REQUIREMENT FOR ENTRANCE TO KINGDOM IS DISCUSSED

Evangelist Harmon Discussed Some of the Requirements For Entrance Into Kingdom of Heaven.

Some of the requirements for entrance into the kingdom of Heaven were discussed by Rev. Harmon in his sermon at the First M. E. Church, South, Wednesday evening. In opening, he read as a background some passages from the third chapter of Matthew, the third chapter of John, and the fourth and fifth chapters of First Thessalonians, and took as his text, Matthew 7:21 "Not everyone that saith, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of Heaven; but he that doeth the will of my father which is in Heaven." (Christian profession without deeds is folly, and even though a man may preach about God, he has no assurance of salvation unless he puts God's service first, and knowing God's will, acts according to it. The three fundamental things that constitute the will of God are: "that every man and woman shall repent—by repentance is meant a coming back or returning when one finds himself going the wrong way; 2—that every man and woman must be born again by putting off the old sinful self and putting on the robe of righteousness; that His children and His church shall be wholly sanctified.")

Rev. Harmon upholds the highest standards of conduct for those who claim to be church members, and he continues to present in a very earnest and convincing manner the testimony of the Bible with regard to man's sin and salvation, and the unlimited possibilities of a human life fully surrendered to God. It is hoped the those who have not as yet heard this celebrated evangelist will avail themselves of the opportunity to attend the morning and evening services. The song service is very inspiring and is improving each evening. Last evening a special male quartet assisted in the song service. Rev. O. C. Seever has assisted Rev. Harmon in many revival services and the sermon he preaches through song never fails to bring its message.

MORRISON GETS SEVEN YEARS FOR COLLINS MURDER

Jury in Fleming Circuit Court Finds Arthur Morrison Guilty of Slaying William Collins—Punishment Fixed at Pen Term.

Arthur Morrison was found guilty of slaying his friend William Collins and his punishment fixed at confinement in the state penitentiary for a period of seven years by a jury in the Fleming Circuit Court Wednesday.

It will be remembered that William Collins was killed about a year ago in the mountain section of Fleming county near the Rowan county line and that immediately after the killing, his wife, Mrs. William Collins, confessed to officials that she had slain her husband when he attempted to shoot her with a shot gun. Mrs. Collins was arrested and held for several days but officials learned from other sources that Mrs. Collins' story was not a true one and that she was telling it only to shield Arthur Morrison, with whom she was very friendly and with whom her husband had met her on a mountain path.

Evidence was uncovered that Morrison fired the shot which caused Collins' death and that his wife had nothing whatever to do with his slaying. The woman was released after a Coroner's investigation and officers began the search through the hills of Fleming and Rowan counties for Morrison. He was heard from on several occasions reported as being heavily armed and stalking through the mountains defying the officers.

After several weeks a Deputy Sheriff slipped up on Morrison in the hills and took him to Flemingsburg where he has been safely held in jail since until his trial.

The case attracted considerable attention throughout the upper section of Fleming county and the lower section of Rowan county where both Morrison and Collins were well known.

TOBACCO COMPANIES FACING CHARGES OF PRICE CONSPIRACY

Manufacturers in Collusion With Jobbers to Keep Up High Prices—No Proof That They Kept Down Raw Material Prices.

Washington, Jan. 19. — Three of the principal tobacco manufacturing companies — the American Tobacco Company, the P. Lorillard Company and the Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company — were charged with engaging in conspiracies with numerous jobbers' associations to keep up jobbers' prices in a report transmitted Wednesday to the Senate by the Federal Trade Commission.

The three companies, the commission declared, in giving the results of an investigation ordered under a resolution by Senator Smith, Democrat, South Carolina, were formerly parts of the "tobacco trust" dissolved by the Supreme Court. The R. J. Reynolds Company, the report said, was not a party to the alleged conspiracies and was commended for its opposition. The commission promised prosecution where the evidence discloses there has been violations of law.

There was no conclusive evidence, the commission stated, of collusion to depress the prices paid growers for 1920 leaf crop. The commission added, however, that "it appears that a few large buyers had a dominant position and each purchased only a certain percentage of the offerings."

"Common buying agencies were used," the report said, with reference to the purchase of tobacco, and secret purchases were made through independent dealers, while the ultimate purchasers held off the market, or practically so."

INSURANCE COMPANY MAKES GOOD SHOWING.

Secretary James B. Key, of the Mason County Farmers Mutual Insurance Company, has just completed his annual report which is one of the best the company has ever made. The report shows that the company has now a total of $2,618,390 worth of insurance in force and that all claims were paid last year on an assessment of twenty cents on the one hundred dollars.

GIRLS' MISSION BAND HOLDS REUNION AFTER 20 YEARS

Sixteen of Twenty-two Members of Active Girls' Band of Presbyterian Church Hold Reunion.

Twenty years and more ago there was a very active auxiliary at the First Presbyterian church known as "The Girls' Mission Band." There were twenty-two active members of the organization and they accomplished much for missions in that church.

The organization finally disbanded when the members of the club grew to womanhood and married and they have not met in nearly twenty years.

On Wednesday evening Mrs. John Barbour, wife of the church's pastor, called on members of the club to meet at her home in Market street for a reunion. There were 16 members of the club present, two have died and four members live in other cities. At the reunion the sixteen members enjoyed themselves greatly in recalling the old times and in discussing their experiences during the years that are past.

SIN CAN NOT BE COVERED.

"He who covereth his sins shall not prosper; but whose confesseth and forsaketh them shall have mercy." This text taken from Proverbs 28th chapter and 13th verse was the subject matter for the sermon at Christian church last evening. The discourse was made of practical illustrations from every day life tending to show the folly of any attempt to cover up sin in the individual life. It was a good wholesome sermon, well thought out and well delivered. Mr. and Mrs. Tuckerman are fine chorus directors and their special singing is a most delightful feature of these evangelistic services. Your presence is coveted and you will both help and be helped by your presence.

OHIOANS GET RELIGION; QUIT MOONSHINING

Kentuckian Holding Revival in Adams County Is Uncovering More Sills Than the Dry Enforcement Officers.

The Monchester Signal says: Rev. Thomas Carr, of Kentucky, has been holding a series of meetings at Germany a small church settlement in Monroe township seven miles east. Much interest has been shown by all classes of all ages.

Thirty have united with that branch of the church.

A slight ripple was caused when a prominent Monroe township man took the platform and said: "If anyone will come to my home at an early hour tomorrow morning I will give him a first class still and complete outfit for making moonshine; come early or the infernal thing will be scrapped, furthermore, if you will tell my many Monroe township clients of this fact it will save them a long trip over the hill—never again will a still be operated by me."

Four other men of that township made a public confession of making and selling pale goods. One man said as a concession for crime that he had used the best ingredients obtainable and that he had not sold to minors—in fact did not have to, as voters took his output as fast as made.

Four stills have been scrapped, one distributor has taken off his boots and nothing is lacking in the confessions except a list of steadies from Monroe and Manchester townships.

FORGET MINOR DIFFERENCES

In his address to the Women's National Republican Club in New York, a few days ago, Chairman John T. Adams emphasized the importance of "sinking minor and individual differences in order to discharge the broad responsibility that is imposed upon a party when it comes into power." The policy of sinking minor differences is one that applies to political parties as well as to every other organization in which men undertake to co-operate. If men did not overlook their minor differences and cling together on their general and fundamental principles, we would soon have no churches, no fraternal societies, no large business concerns, and, finally, no government. Our great business enterprises, so essential to general prosperity, which are all splendid examples of what can be done by co-operation, would not last a month if each member of the organization withheld his support and co-operation because all the minor matters of detail were not conducted according to his own ideas. No ship could sail the seas, no train could cross the continent, if each member of the crew refused to help unless his individual views of all minor matters of management were first agreed to. As Mr. Adams appropriately remarked, no one expects individuals to surrender their right of personal opinion. It is not desired that any man should be silent when he has views upon any important issue. But, having expressed his views and submitted those views to a vote of his party associates, the individual should, if defeated, yield to the judgment of the majority, if the matter is one of minor importance. Of course a situation might arise, once in many, many years, when an issue became of such vital importance that no man could yield his own judgment to his more numerous associate, but such critical situations were not in mind when Mr. Adams spoke of the need of sinking minor differences.

PASSING OF BOIES PENROSE.

A figure of national eminence, whose counsel was as influential on the affairs of his country as on the progress of his home state, Boies Penrose will be missed from the senate. Like his estimable colleague, Philander Chase Knox, his usefulness to the public was affected by the misconception the public had of his ability and his purpose. Senator Penrose was a man of capacity, possessed of talent, and a genius for organizing, and a worker whose zeal was never daunted. His position in Pennsylvania laid him open to attack, invidious and generally unwarranted, and he was represented, as have been other great leaders, as the servant of the trusts, a creature of corporate wealth, until a distorted and grotesque picture of a really able man and patriotic citizen had been built up in the popular eye. He felt this keenly, but declined to follow the example of Mark Hanna, who overcame the effect of the Davenport "dollar-mark" cartoons by going out and showing himself to his fellow citizens as a regular man. Leaders of the party knew Penrose and trusted his judgment and the people of his own state showed a similar regard for him by giving him an increased prestige at the polls when the primary law and the direct election of senators came into vogue—Omaha Bee.

CHAIRMAN REDFIELD

It is reported that William C. Redfield has been made chairman, or president, of the Netherlands Chamber of Commerce, an organization having for its chief purpose the development of a market in the United States for Dutch products. Mr. Redfield's work as Secretary of Commerce during the better part of the Wilson Administration, must have commended him to the Dutch. As a public official he was ever more interested in seeing foreigners sell to us than in watching the ships go out with American goods consigned to the foreigners. Mr. Redfield was very helpful in drafting the Underwood tariff law, still in force, and after that law was enacted he was most helpful in encouraging importations under it. The Dutch have secured a good agent, while the United States has lost nothing not already charged off by way of the ex-Secretary's services.

FOLLOWING AMERICA'S LEAD

The Cannes conference is the natural result of the Washington meeting, and now we hear that the premiers at Cannes have determined to call another international meeting to assemble at Genoa in March. It is understood that both Germany and Russia will be invited to send delegates to Genoa, and the occasion will probably be the first since the war when all the national of Europe have got together to discuss their mutual troubles. The marked success of the Washington conference has stimulated the leaders of Europe to seek a settlement of their own problems in similar discussions.

WATER POWER OF THE WORLD IS LARGELY IN U. S.

Forty Per Cent. of the Developed Water Power in the Whole World Is in America.

Forty per cent. of the developed water power of the world is in the United States, where water wheels having a capacity of 9,243,000 horsepower have been installed, according to a recent statement of the United States Geological Survey, Department of the Interior. The leading states in developed water power are New York, with 1,300,000 horsepower, and California, with 1,110,000. These state totals compare favorably with those for some of the most progressive countries in water-power development in Europe, where France leads with 1,400,000 horsepower, Norway has 1,350,000 horsepower, Sweden 1,200,000 horsepower, and Switzerland 1,070,000 horsepower. The largest percentage of power has been developed in the New England States, where the capacity of the water wheels installed is 1,381,000 horsepower and the estimated potential power at low water without storage is 868,000 horsepower. In the Pacific Coast States—Washington, Oregon, and California—the capacity of water wheels installed is 1,833,000 horsepower and the potential power at low water without storage is 11,500,000 horsepower. The largest water-power development in the world is at Niagara Falls, where the plants in operation have a capacity of 870,000 horsepower, of which 355,500 horsepower is on the United States side. The capacity of the plants at Niagara is being increased by 114,500 horsepower in the United States and 300,000 horsepower in Canada. Other large plants are one of 170,000 horsepower on the Mississippi at Keokuk, Iowa, from which power is transmitted to St. Louis, and two plants aggregating 268,500 horsepower on St. Maurice River, Canada, from which power is transmitted to Montreal, Quebec, and other cities. Canada ranks next to the United States in water-power development, with 2,418,000 horsepower, or over ten per cent. of the world's total. Europe has one-third of the developed water power in the world. Two plants at Rjukan, in Norway, have a total capacity of 239,000 horsepower, and at Trollhattan Falls the Swedish Government has installed a plant of 155,000 horsepower. At Lake Ffully, in Switzerland, the remarkably high head of 5,413 feet is utilized. France, Italy, Germany, Norway, Sweden, and Switzerland have each developed more than 1,000,000 horsepower.

Probably you know, too, that some people can't drink a cup of tea or coffee at bed-time, and sleep well that night.

New York Letter
by Lucy Jeanne Price

New York. — We have another nice new war on with Chicago. This time it's about liquor. New York has arisen to declare with exultation that wits its whole six million people, it used only half a million liquor prescriptions from its physicians in all last year, whereas Chicago, with its fractional size used THREE million. All the triumph of virtue on our side, you see! Then the Queen of the Prairies retaliated with the scornful explanation that it was because New York can get all it wants from bootleggers, who flourish twenty or so to one in Chicago. Consequently, this wicked eastern city doesn't have to bother its doctors. We have now come back with reprieve of Lardnerian cleverness to the effect that our physicians are so much more conscientious than Chicago's that they won't prescribe just wholesale. It's a merry little battle and just one more broken peace to be laid to liquor's door.

There are two happiest and proudest grand opera stars on Manhattan Island right now. One is the eternally-charming Mme. Emma Calve, who came back in every sense of the term the other day and proved herself the same fascinating, gay, intense Carmen as ever in her youngest days and with just the same hold on the hearts of the people. The other is Mme. Louis Homer, who wants the whole world to know that she is a grandmother. A daughter was born the other day to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest M. Stires, daughter of the prima donna and son of the Episcopal clergyman, and Mme. Homer was not so happy as this the night she made her debut on the opera stage.

Anyone who believes that theatrical audiences demand sensationalism, sex intrigue, or extravagant scenery, ought to take a lesson from that play which continues to be the hit of two seasons, "The First Year." This realistic comedy of ordinary married life, in which Frank Craven does some of the best work of his career, has just given its 500th performance at the Little Theater, and when you consider that there are only 313 week nights in a year, that is quite a number. And the crowds are not yet falling off.

The first exclusive smoking room for women in a New York theater was opened last week at the Globe, where Charles Dillingham has set aside a room opening on the balcony floor for this purpose and easily accessible from boxes, orchestra and balcony. It was a response to a demand grown to insistent to ignore any longer, according to the management.

TOBACCO POOLERS

Be very careful in stripping your tobacco, keeping each grade to itself, both in regard to color, length and texture, for on the grading depends, to a very great extent, the price.

Be sure that you have each grade on separate sticks. Don't mix the grade on the stick, as the tobacco will be "stick graded" and the lowest grade on the stick will govern the grade.

The same thing applies to the hand. Do not mix grades in the hand.

Do not hang your sticks too full. Eighteen to twenty hands keeps your tobacco straight when you bulk it.

When you get through stripping a crop you are ready to deliver and not before.

The whole crop must be delivered the same day, or all of each grade. That is, if you cannot haul all of your crop, you must deliver all of each grade when you start delivery.

There are always two "grades" in each grade, for instance: "Trash 1st and 2nd." Leaf, lugs and all grades have first and second, so keep them separate.

"city speeders who think as soon as they get off Manhattan Island they can break all traffic laws" are considering a new plan to put an end to this joyless racing. "Thank-you-mama" compose the plan. Do you remember those holes and sudden depressions in the old-fashioned, unimproved roads that gave you just pelt and were called by that name? Well, that's the idea; just put those holes into the road deliberately about every so far. "It would soon discourage this 40-mile an hour driving" points out one advocate.

Mrs. Louise Ducey, of 351 West Fifty-fifth street, is an actress and likes acting. She is also a plumber and likes plumbing. She has found, she told Surrogate Cohalan yesterday, that her acting doesn't interfere with her plumbing and that her plumbing doesn't interfere with her acting. Because of this she feels that she should be allowed to run the plumbing business of her late husband as she pleases. Miss Helen F. Ducey, sister of the late Mr. Ducey, is somewhat dubious as to Mrs. Ducey's ability to combine successfully the exacting professions of plumbing and acting. A controversy has arisen between them over the administration of Mr. Ducey's estate.

UNPUBLISHED PRAYER

By STEVENSON
An unpublished prayer by Robert Louis Stevenson has been discovered on the fly-leaf of a dictionary that belonged to the celebrated author. The dictionary was presented to the Stevenson Society of America. The prayer, written by Stevenson on the fly-leaf of the book is as follows:
"Lord, behold us come before Thee this night, once more assembled. Help us in our troubles, correct us in our faults, give us to see so far as may be right, and yet not further, in all vicissitudes of our career. For them that are absent, we offer Thee our supplications. Be good to the green and to ripe. Prepare the child for the arena. To our absent mother, give my armfuls, the last gleanings of the last gleanings of the harvest of her life, so that she may go down there where she must go in the beauty of a serene evening, not without its songs. Help us one and all to bear and to forbear, for Thy name's sake, and let this home of our endure all strokes of enemies from without and of enemies from within, until we shall be gathered, one by one into Thy garner of the dead and resting, nevertheless not as we will but as we shall serve in the unknown design."

The price of pig meat bids fair to put us on the hog.

WOMEN'S WOES

Maysville Women Are Finding Relief At Last.

It does seem that women have more than a fair share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity; they must "keep up," must attend to duties in spite of constantly aching backs, or headaches, dizzy spells, bearing-down pains; they must stoop over, when to stoop means torture. They must walk and bend and work with racking pains and many aches from kidney ills. Keeping the kidneys well has spared thousands of women much misery. Read of a remedy for kidneys only that is endorsed by people you know. Mrs. E. L. Cullen, 322 West Second street, Maysville, says: "Three years ago I had an attack of kidney trouble and my back ached continually. I had no ambition to do my housework and everything seemed a drag to me while going about it. I had blinding, dizzy spells and my head ached all the time. My kidneys were not acting regularly and in other ways showed signs of disorder. Doan's Kidney Pills were recommended to me and I sent to Wood & Son's drug store and got a box. After using them I got over the trouble entirely and have never since been bothered. I willingly recommend this remedy."

Price 60c., at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Cullen had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

INFANT MORTALITY FOR THE YEAR 1921

Census Bureau Makes Announcement Of Infant Mortality In U. S. For Year 1921.

Washington, D. C. — The Department of Commerce through the Bureau of the Census, announces that provisional infant mortality rates in 51 cities based on estimated births for 1921, and the weekly telegraphic reports of deaths to the Bureau of the Census indicate record low rates throughout the country last year.

For the group of 51 cities the infant mortality rate is 74 per 1,000 births as against a rate of 90 in 1920 for 44 cities. The lowest infant mortality rate 47 per 1,000 births appears for the cities of Portland, Oregon, St. Paul, and Seattle, and the highest rate 111 for Fall River.

The greatest decrease since 1920 appears for Lowell, with a rate of 90 for 1921 against a rate of 135 for 1920. No city shows a higher rate for 1921 than for 1920, though Albany and Salt Lake City maintain the same rate for the two years, 77 and 72, respectively.

PEOPLE FLEE TO OPEN AS QUAKES ROCK CALIFORNIA

Los Angeles, Jan. 18.—Earth shocks left in Southern California, with Los Angeles as the center, over a territory ninety miles north and south and sixty miles inland, broke panes, cracked plaster and startled inhabitants between 7:30 and 8 o'clock last night. The most severe effects were in Los Angeles, where frightened inhabitants in the residential districts congregated ed in the streets. There was a disposition in some quarters to attribute the shocks to the concussion of big gun firing by the Pacific fleet off the coast, but naval officers discounted this theory.

DOES LAUNDRY WORK AND HOUSEWORK TOO

Surprised to Find Her-self Feeling So Well

Taunton, Mass. — "I used to have pains in my back and legs so badly, with other troubles that women sometimes have, that my doctor ordered me to stay in bed a week in every month. It didn't do me much good, so one day after talking with a friend who took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, for about the same troubles I had, I thought I would try it also. I find that I can work in the laundry all through the time and do my housework, too. Last month I was so surprised at myself to be up and around and feeling so good while before I used to feel completely lifeless. I have told some of the girls who work with me and have such troubles to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I tell them how it has helped me. You can use my testimonial for the good of others." — Mrs. BLANCHE SILVIA, 69 Grant St., Taunton, Mass.

It's the same story — one friend telling another of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

WARNING SOUNDED BY JOURNAL AGAINST FLASH SIGN PLAN

Interstate Grocer Says Unfavorable Report Has Been Made on Sign Advertising Scheme By the Vigilance Committee.

Several local merchants have recently been visited by flash sign salesmen who endeavored to sell them an electric sign and offered them an income through a National advertising campaign.

The Interstate Grocer, a well known trade journal widely circulated among grocers in the South, has this to say to a proposition of this sort:

Despite warning of the National Vigilance Committee of the admen's organization to dealers through The Interstate Grocer to go slow on signing up contract with the Point of Purchase Advertising Association, because of known misrepresentation of salesmen, it appears that a number of merchants in Shawnee, Okla., signed and paid up and then investigated afterwards. The association's salesmen have apparently quit the St. Louis field which they had combed thoroughly and branched out into other towns to try their stunt on merchants there.

A letter indicating this is the fact was received by The Interstate Grocer from E. F. Profit, secretary of the Retail merchants association of Shawnee, Okla., which letter tells the sad, sad story a-plenty as follows:

"Two men representing the Point of Purchase Advertising Association came here recently and secured contracts with some of our merchants for the installation of flash signs representing that they had contracts for advertising with National advertisers which enabled them to pay our local merchants $1 per month for each sign installed.

"They also collected $5 in advance as a payment on a window sign which they sold the merchants. They made a big talk about the rating of their company in Dun's and Bradstreet's and boldly invited investigation.

"However, they worked fast and now we are unable to find the boasted rating in Dun's and Bradstreet's. Can you give us any information as to this company. They claim to have a branch office in St. Louis at 222 International Life Building."

The Interstate Grocer has carried two stories on the front page about this concern, going into all details as to their plan and their mode of operation. Each time this paper has taken great pains to warn grocers not to be taken in by misrepresentations salesmen for the Point of Purchase Advertising Association have been known to make. This warning was based on an unfavorable report issued by the National Vigilance Committee of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World.

Again, The Interstate Grocer warns its readers, wherever these salesmen show up with their little sign and dance, to give them a wide berth. Remember that the dealer does not sign any contract with any national advertiser. He signs a contract with the Point of Purchase Advertising Association and in that contract the dealer expresses a preference for certain signs, which in most cases are not covered by service contracts between the Association and the national advertisers, according to the National Vigilance Committee.

The scheme is an old one and a grocer who has been long in the business will recognize it at once, but the younger grocers will be roped in unless they are extremely careful. The safest plan is to hold off the salesmen and tell him you will first verify for yourself whether or not his association has service contracts with the National Advertiser, so the signs for which you express preference can be forthcoming.

A suggestion has been made by E. J. Brennan of Better Business Bureau of St. Louis that jobbers "wise up" their salesmen on this scheme and instruct the salesmen to advise intelligently with the dealers. In this way, many a dealer will be educated to investigate first and invest afterwards. Doubtless, salesmen for this scheme will bob up elsewhere, as it is believed they are now attempting to comb the Southwestern territory to peddle their contracts to merchants wherever they can find any soft enough to bite.
